

Ave Maria

A BIG KIND OF SMALL TOWN

Big towns bustle, small towns breathe.

Big towns offer conveniences.
Small towns offer connection.

Big towns may have all you're looking for, but small towns have the things you can't see:
Trust. Belonging.
Neighborly bonds and quality time.

*Ave Maria
is the best of both.*

HOLES OF GOLF. SIPS OF COFFEE.

Steps to school.

Even time is on your side here. Ave Maria is a self-sustained town, complete with vibrant Town Center, preserved open space, exciting amenities, and Pre-K through Post-grad on site. And because there is so much, so close to your front door, not only does it seem like there's more to see and do—there's more time for you to do it.

A BIG KIND OF SMALL TOWN

WHAT SETS US APART?

What we set aside.

We are committed to protecting and preserving natural spaces found in and around our community—17,000 acres, in fact—and you can trace these responsible development practices back to our roots.

Pioneers of the Rural Land Stewardship Program, Ave Maria was started by the Barron Collier Companies—a leader of responsible land development throughout Florida for over a century—and Tom Monaghan, founder of Domino's Pizza.

So whether you're marveling at a beautiful indigenous plant or biking past the undeveloped wetlands of Camp Keais Strand, you'll be glad that good roots grow great places.

A LEGACY OF VISION

HOMEBUILDERS THAT

Make you feel at home

Ave Maria was built with small-town values in mind: Putting family first. Forging strong neighborly bonds. And owning a home you'll love to come home to. Luckily, we have four like-minded builders—C.C. Homes, Del Webb, Lennar, and Pulte Homes—to help bring these values to life.

A BIG KIND OF SMALL TOWN

When you wave goodbye fondly after dinner at the pub, walk home with your family as the kids run ahead, and stargaze while swaying in the hammock out back, you'll be glad you live in

A Big Kind of Small Town.

BARRON GIFT COLLIER

History

MAKING GOOD ON THE VISION

"He was a visionary who saw Collier County as an agricultural and vacation paradise at a time when it was considered worthless swampland."

-The Collier Story

Barron Collier Companies has been endowed with a heritage of innovative genius and groundbreaking initiatives.

From Barron Gift Collier's original vision of a residential paradise, to the development of Ave Maria—a visionary, mixed-use Naples success (named eight times a "Community of the Year")—the company has created opportunities, given back to the community, and stewarded natural habitat and environment.

Along with dedicating energy and resources to creating a thriving community, their shared vision included a commitment to the conservation of the area's natural resources and wildlife. As pioneers of the Rural Land Stewardship Program, 17,000 acres in and around the Ave Maria community are preserved.

At Ave Maria, you're a witness to a historic vision, and the shared values that brought it to life.

Through the years, Ave Maria has evolved into a multi-generational mix of cultures and credos, but the values you'll see—reflected in life here—have been with us from the start. Barron Collier Companies joined together with Tom Monaghan, founder of Domino's Pizza, to build a town centered around the values of family, education and community.
